U.S.A. A CHRISTIAN NATION

His jeering and sneering tormentors, He said: "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do."

Christ challenged the slavery system and declared that man is the creation of God and is, first of all, responsible to God. Christ preached the freedom and dignity of the individual and his God-given right to come and go freely, to enjoy the fruits of his own labor, to work for himself or to sell his labor for pay, and to own things.

The best way to reduce the exploitation of man by man is to embrace Christianity. Christianity, not handouts, is the hope of the world. Christ was not a Socialist. Christ believed in the profit motive. He recognized that three men had different talents and abilities in varying degrees. Some gained more talents with what they had, and these were rewarded with more talents. However, Christ took away the talent of the man who did nothing and gave it to the man who had ten talents. He congratulated those who profited.

Jesus Christ was not a "moderate." He was an "extremist." The "modernists" amongst us today proclaim that there is no black and white; that sin is imaginary, non-existent; that we are to be "moderate" and "tolerant" in all things, including evil.

An agnostic is a moderate. Moderation is not a virtue when one is moderately wrong or moderately sinful. Christ had this to say about moderates — a religious type He denounced in extreme terms: "I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot. I would thou wert cold or hot. So because thou art neither cold nor hot, I will spew thee out of my mouth."

The Bible is not tolerant; it's "narrow-minded." And so is the compass, radar, the multiplication table, the boiling and freezing points of water, nature and the Kingdom of Heaven. The gates of Hell are broad-minded. God, the Bible, sin, and Jesus Christ are unchanging. Hebrews 13:8 says: "Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, today and tomorrow." The Ten Commandments are forever the same. A true Christian has an unchanging standard.

The "modernist" preachers have decreed that God is dead; that Christianity has failed; that they will create a new religion "suitable to our complex times." God is eternal, of course. Christianity has not failed—it hasn't been tried.

We spend billions in the U.N. denying Christianity and promoting the "brotherhood of man." "Brotherhood" in a one-world, raceless, classless society is the new goal. The Fatherhood of God is "old hat." It is difficult enough for Christians to work together —but we are supposed to be "brothers" in this godless, Utopian dream-world. "World Government" is a man-made Kingdom on Earth ruled not by God, nor even by man, but by the devil and Soviet Union.

The Bible tells us to love our brothers and our enemies, but the New Testament, which I believe, admonishes us to love Christians above all.

Loss of faith in God is our nation's—and the world's — most serious problem. When men lose God, they turn to the State. When men lose God, they compromise, appease, lie, steal and make war. The collectivists, anarchists and atheists must "destroy" God to take over the world. Unless we can recapture our religious spirit, re-establish our Christian values, we will soon lose our freedom of choice with respect to life's values.

The collectivist planners have created through "liberal" press and networks, the impression that people who oppose "the brotherhood of man" are hatemongers. Christians crusade not because they hate but because they love.

Jesus did not say: "Peace on earth; good will among men." He did say: "Peace on earth among men of good will."

The God-killers are also killing our country. The morals of our leaders are low because the morals of our people are low. The graveyards of history prove that nations get what they deserve. Few if any nations have ever been conquered from without unless they were rotten within. Our nation was founded by men who believed in God, in individual freedom, in high moral values and in personal responsibility. Whether we survive as free men or slaves depends upon whether we can resurrect our moral and spiritual strength.

The time could be approaching when the question will be not whether America can be saved but whether America is worth saving. Sodom and Gomorrah were not. Only the moral deserve to be free. The Apostle Paul said: "Where the spirit of the Lord is, there is Liberty." (II Cor. 3:17).

We cannot oppose evil by compromising with evil. We cannot go forth into all the world and spread the gospel of Jesus Christ if we deny Jesus Christ in the United Nations, in our school and in our daily lives.

Almost incredible today is not the noise of the bad people but the silence of the good people. We become part of what we condone.

Some defeatists say we can't win, that it's all over; that these are the last days, that Armageddon and the millennium are imminent; so why oppose Biblical prophecy? Who has the temerity to say that he knows these are the last days? Where does the Bible say that when the end approaches, you are to quit? WE CAN WIN AND WE CAN'T QUIT.

What can one small voice do? Multiplied, it can work wonders. Let's remember, "I am only one, but still I am one. I cannot do everything, but I can do something. And I will not refuse to do the something that I can do." What can you do? "Pray as if it were all up to God and work as if it were all up to you."

MAN'S INHUMANITY TO MAN

During the fairly recent outrages committed against defenseless Arabs by their hated Zionist enemies, American Jewry within our own government tried to divert American attention away from the baking sands of the Sinai deserts where 50,000 Egyptians were dying of thirst. The Jews ignored the suffering of their victims and cried in a loud voice that Negroes were starving in the Mississippi Delta. Alert spectators of the world political scene will not be fooled by such despicable Zionist tactics. No Negroes were starving in the Delta, a statement that could not be truthfully made of Harlem by its Jewish owners. Upon learning of the Egyptian tragedy in the desert, some American military men planned a mission of mercy and organized a water-lift to the Sinai desert, but it is alleged that when Arthur Goldberg and Dean Rusk learned of this, the American military men were ordered to abandon the water-lift, and the Egyptians were left to perish in the desert.

The crime of genocide, even in the hated UN Charter, is a crime punishable by death. Now, we want war crimes trials, treason trials and genocide trials for Arthur Goldberg and Dean Rusk. We also want war crimes trials for Moshe Dayan, Levi Eshkol, and David Ben Gurion. The real war criminals have not yet been tried, but the day is a-comin'.

FDR MY EXPLOITED FATHER-IN-LAW

By CURTIS DALL

An intimate look behind the scene of America's New Deal President, Franklin D. Roosevelt!

What manner of man was he — really? Curtis Dall tells you the story, no holds barred; reveals some of the most historical and blushing events of the Roosevelt Era. Says one reviewer: "He hangs out the White House linens, unlaundered." Other comments: "Adds a new dimension . . . absorbing . . . authentic . . . dramatic . . . entertaining . . . gossipy . . . bulges with anecdotes only a son-in-law would know."

Read for yourself the formerly unknown facts about happenings from Hyde Park to the White House — from tidbits of gossip to earth-shaking decisions!

Separation Of Church And State

The Perth Amboy Evening News, April 11, 1956, further emphasized the Jewish determination to override Christian custom when it ran an item on the Rabbinical Council of N.J. which was calling for stronger kosher food laws in conformity with Hebraic rules and codes — and planned to meet with New Jersey lawmakers on the subject. Are kosher laws now a part of Christian legal procedure?

Even President Eisenhower was used to the secret delight of those who realize the meaning of the event. When he had his heart attack in 1955 at the time he was entertaining an all-male party at Aksel Nielsen's ranch, he had cooked a "lumberjack's breakfast," according to Acting White House press secretary, Murray Snyder. As described in the New York Herald Tribune, under Fraser, Colorado dateline, Sept. 22, 1955, the then President had fried mush, beef sausage and beef bacon but no milk or cream was served "because we didn't want to feel as though we had overeaten." This was Snyder's Aesopian message to those who understood the dietary law which prohibits the serving of meat and milk at the same meal! Then a food columnist reported (New York Journal-American, Nov. 9, 1955) that the demand for beef bacon had skyrocketed since the public learned it was a Presidential favorite — according to the Hebrew National Kosher Sausage Co., of Brooklyn. And hog raisers in the Middle West wondered why there had been a falling off in the demand for pork. They never guessed.

CARE packages, too, are assembled on a kosher basis. During the Hungarian Revolt of 1957, at the Joyce Kilmer Reception Center for Refugees (which was infested with Soviet agents), the U.S. Army prepared three substantial kosher meals for the appreciative guests (paid for by taxpayers of course); and by helicopter and dogsled, Jewish GI's get Passover boxes (World Telegram 3-26-57). This is a far more solicitous concern than that shown Egyptian captive soldiers who were forced to lie face down, naked, in the burning sand at 120 degrees without any water to drink, during the recent Middle East fracas. But, then, Christians are compassionate!

To sum up, the doctrine of separation of church and state is being violated in hundreds of ways in every state in the Union. It remains for some fearless citizen to ask for a ruling as to whether it is legal to buy food products and cleansers that have been manufactured under Jewish religious requirements — to be paid for by the tax money of the non-Jewish citizens.

At the same time, what about the fees or "honorariums" paid to the supervising rabbis? How are these sums in four and five figures reported to the Internal Revenue Bureau — as business earnings on which a tax is due, or as tax-free religious income; if the latter, a religious category violates the doctrine of separation of church and state. It is to be hoped that 1968 will see the entire issue challenged by legal proceedings in the courts.
